

Find and unlock the value of your unstructured data for better business success

90% of data is unstructured files¹

50-65% unstructured data growth per year

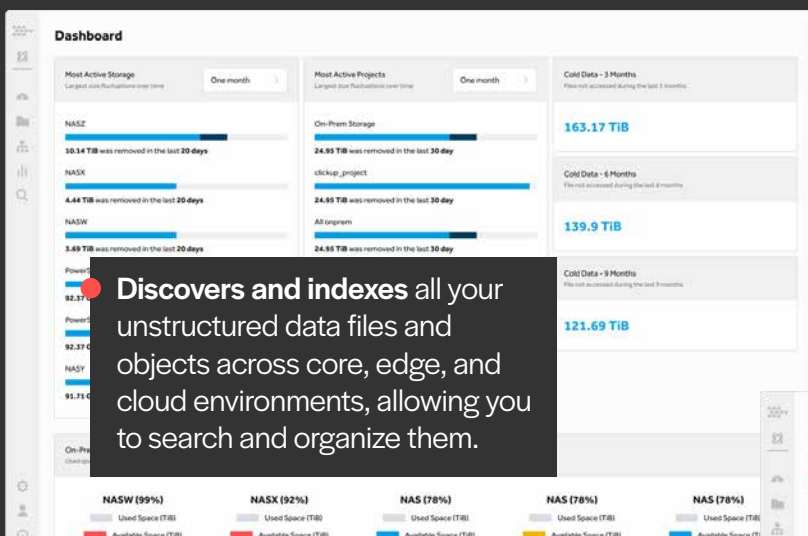

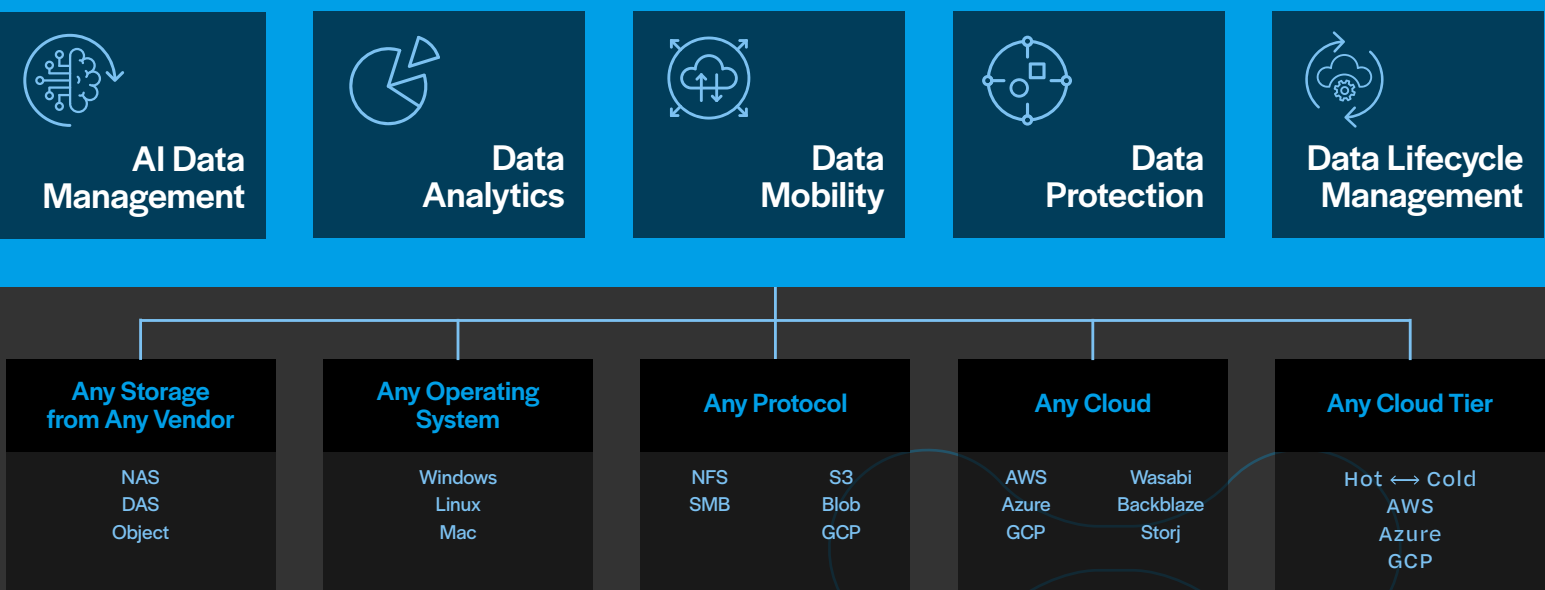

78% of businesses are unprepared for Gen AI due to poor data foundations²

Unstructured data — word documents, spreadsheets, PDFs, slides, videos, and more — is a strategic business asset. The challenge? Leveraging your data for AI and daily operations when it's unmanaged, hidden, and locked away in storage silos across your enterprise and clouds.

CloudSoda modern unstructured data platform for the AI era

CloudSoda gives you complete visibility and full control over your organization's unstructured data — no matter where it lives. CloudSoda automates the data lifecycle, ensuring your data is always ready and seamlessly delivered to your AI and daily business workflows.

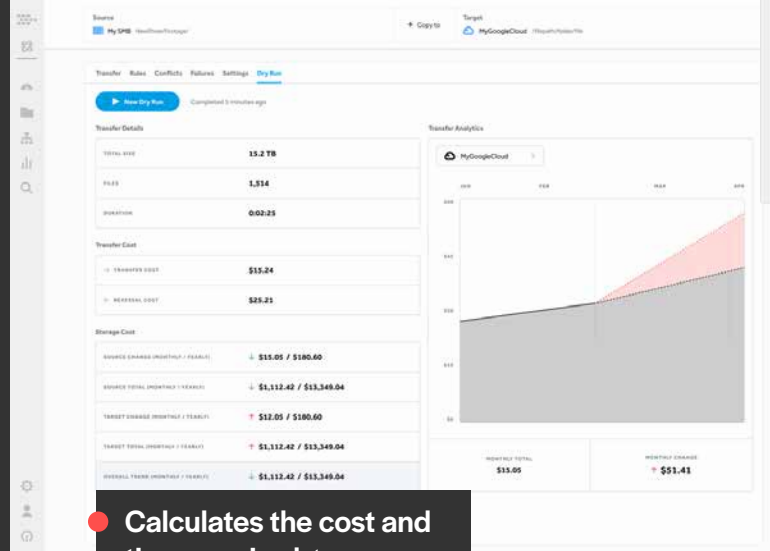

CloudSoda Intelligence and Orchestration for Data Pipelines

• Discovers and indexes all your unstructured data files and objects across core, edge, and cloud environments, allowing you to search and organize them.

• Visualizes your data landscape by providing instant insights into storage usage, file activity, and costs across all systems through powerful dashboards and reporting tools.

• Calculates the cost and time required to move data from anywhere to anywhere.

• Automates and tracks your data lifecycle by continuously monitoring storage usage across your edge, core, and cloud environments

“CloudSoda’s data analytics and management software has captured the attention of many of our valued customers due to its capabilities to scan across storage silos either on or off premises regardless of manufacturer.”
